

The Aquatec Maxcon Group is committed to maintaining and seeks to improve standards of health, safety and welfare of its employees, subcontractors and visitors to all its workplaces. The organisation views this as a primary responsibility and to be essential to good business through avoiding waste, damage and needless suffering to individuals and their families.

It is the objective and commitment of high level management to:

- Comply with relevant work health and safety legislation, codes of practice and standards.
- Ensure leadership is demonstrated at all levels of the business through actions, accountability and commitment to workplace health and safety and make best use of its management resources in all matters of health and safety.
- Continually improve the work health and safety management system to ensure it is practical, eliminates hazards, captures emerging hazards and minimises health and safety risks.
- Implement an injury management system to proactively manage employees to remain at work or return to work after an injury or illness.
- Empower all employees to have Stop Work Authority to ensure all activities under Aquatec Maxcon Group's control are safe for employees, subcontractors and others who come onto our sites or into contact with our work, including the general public.
- Equip our employees with the information, training and resources to enable them to manage risks and encourage a culture where health and safety is integrated into the work place.
- Consult and participate with employees and/or worker's representative to maintain and improve the safety management system.
- Communicate Aquatec Maxcon Group's health and safety objectives and targets to all employees to empower them to take responsibility for their own health and safety together with that of co-workers and to comply with the company health and safety requirements.
- Communicate, cooperate and coordinate with our key stakeholders to achieve Aquatec Maxcon Group's health and safety objectives and targets and maintain the highest health and safety standards.
- Communicate the company's objectives and its performance against these objectives throughout the organisation and to interested parties.
- Adopt a forward-looking view on future business decisions that may have Health and Safety consequences.

Safety is everyone's responsibility. You can be assured of my personal concern and participation in sustaining and improving this vital aspect of our Company's operation.
